Part 1:

1. What is your name?
2. Where are you from?
3. Are you a student or are you working? (I am working for past 12 years in one company; so I gave a brief about what I do and some surrounding areas.)
4. 12 years is a long time – have you made friends? (again spoke about my friends in office and what we do in free time etc. etc.)
5. What part of the day are you most active?

Part 2:

1. Do you like animals?
2. Do you like to have a pet?
3. Do you think it is important that children should have more knowledge about animals ?(don't remember the exact question, but it was something similar. As an example, I spoke about animal migration for shelter and food which could be a lesson for children to tackle difficult situations.)

Follow up questions:

1. Did you ask your friends/relative to watch the show? How was their response?
2. What kind of programs on television do you think 'youngsters' watch these days? (I spoke about children, then teenage kids and then adults. After that I just started about the older folks' television programs I was stopped. Not sure if this can be a deterrent in getting a higher score.)
3. There are lot of chat shows and game shows these days. Do you think this is a positive influence on children. (Again, I was too generic here. The examiner reminded me of shows like Big Boss and I carried forward the same example.)

Listening: Was easier.

Reading: This area was my strongest, but I didn't do that well. I recollect making 5 mistakes (3 incorrect and missed 2).
