Translation and transliteration of institution names

Translations of institutions names from Farsi to English vary significantly. Transliteration of Farsi names is especially varied. Common issues include:

- ▶ Vowels – Farsi words are not written with vowels. Transliterations of Farsi to English vary in their use of vowels. A, e, and i are interchangeable, as are o, oo, ou and u. For example, 'Isfahan' can be written 'Esfahan', 'Ardabil' can be written 'Erdebil', and 'Doroud' can be written 'Doorood'.
- ▶ Consonants – some Farsi consonants do not have English equivalents, which leads to varied transliterations. Q, g and gh are interchangeable, as are k and kh and w and v. For example, 'Qazvin' can be written 'Ghazvin' and 'Ahwaz' can be written 'Ahvaz'.
